SRI LANKA

Introduction

China as a key player in the world scene today has come forward in many fronts when compared it with other developing nations. So, in the context in which China is emerging as world power today, students are showing a greater interest to learn about China. The heightening and ever increasing concern with China is reflected in the international policy formulation. Well positioned in the international landscape, China, it is argued, is moving to be a super power with an ability to galvanize the world economy and other areas of national interest, as well.

China and Sri Lanka are connected through social, religious, linguistic, cultural, economic and strategic ties that date back to several centuries. Hence, China's socio-economic, cultural and linguistic relationships is continuing a considerable impact on many dimensions of our future development drives. The necessity to learn about China has by now become an indispensable area of concern.

China has made tremendous progress in international activities and has gained the world recognition. Chinese language study devotes itself to research and study on world civilization, and today the Chinese language is integral in the process of exchange in culture, trade and technology. Chinese language is becoming popular in Sri Lanka. Some universities and some schools have introduced Chinese language as a subject. It seems that there is a strong demand from university and high school students to know about China and learn Chinese language.

University of Colombo

The University of Colombo, which is one of the best South Asian universities has 9 faculties with 45 academic departments, a Campus, a School, 7 Institutes and several centers and units. As the oldest university in Sri Lanka, the University of Colombo with a proud history of over 145 years continues in its endeavour to meet the challenges of maintaining its position as the "Capital University, modern and international in outlook and character". The location of the University affords the student population all the advantages of a "metropolitan university", with easy access to international information/resource centers, libraries, theatres, sports complexes etc.

Confucius Institute

Confucius Institute at the University of Colombo, is academically affiliated to well establish two universities in China namely, Beijing Foreign Studies University and Hong he University in Yunnan. The main objective of this Institute is to facilitate the acquisition of knowledge and proficiency in Chinese language and culture. Besides, this Institute will provide also opportunities to scholars who desire to engage in researches in numerous other related areas of study connected to these two countries.

China has been providing scholarship to Sri Lankan students from as far back as 1974, increasing the intake annually, and expanding also the scope of recruitment to include government officers, journalists, entrepreneurs, artists, teachers and many others. Encouragement of language studies and other related aspects have been carried out to help both Sri Lanka and China, enhancing and strengthening mutual trust and relations between the two countries.
