

PSC 4280 – Dissertation II

This course is entirely devoted to research and dissertation writing. Each student is guided by a supervisor appointed by the Department.

Before students begin writing their dissertations, they will have an opportunity to present their research findings in the class and obtain suggestions from the teaching staff as well as the colleagues.

Students are expected to maintain a record of consultations with the supervisor and annex it to the dissertation, submitted for evaluation.

Students will be evaluated on the dissertation.
