

A New Horizon in Historical Studies

Historical Knowledge is an unavoidable aspect of human life. This is obviously the case in modern civilization. Historical consciousness continues to play a determining role in shaping modern identities. Rephrasing John Huizinga, we could say that 'history is a form in which a culture becomes conscious of its past, present and in the imagination of its future as well'. Therefore the learning and teaching of history has a greater relevance in our day-to-day lives.

As a branch of knowledge, the systematic study of history has developed immensely over the last few decades. The acquisition of this knowledge and its application in historical inquiry is the task of the Department of History at the University of Colombo. The Department will take this new horizon of Historical Studies to those who are interested in historical issues, especially the school teacher of history.
